Take a journey through Spanish cinema, Spanish culture and Spanish gastronomy at the Amsterdam Spanish Film Festival (May 28th June to June 2nd)

This year the Amsterdam Spanish Film Festival (ASFF) celebrates its fifth anniversary. The festival shows the latest in Spanish cinema from the past year through a selection of the most original, the most interesting, and the most impressive Spanish films. There will be numerous Q&A's, workshops, live music and parties to attend. After most of the films, you will be able to enjoy Spanish drinks and tapas. This year, the festival will take place in Pathé Tuschinski, Pathé de Munt, EYE, and Cinecenter. You can buy your festival tickets on the websites of the participating cinemas.

Highlights

The ASFF opens on Tuesday, May 28th with the mysterious drama Quien te cantará about a successful Spanish singer in the 90's who mysteriously disappears one day and wants to return to the theater 10 years later. The political thriller El Reino (The Realm) about a politician that winds up in a corruption scandal, will close off the festival on the 2nd of June.

During the festival, the successful hit TV-series from Spain, Arde Madrid, will be screened. In a double bill, you will be able to watch the entire first season of the series with Spanish drinks and tapas during the breaks. Actresses Inma Cuesta and Ana Castilla and actor Moreno Borja will be present for a Q&A after the screening. Afterwards, you can dance in De Bajes (Rembrandtplein) at the Arde Amsterdam Party!

The music documentary Ara Malikian: Una Vida Entre Las Cuerdas (Ara Malikian: A Life Among Strings) will have its European première. The film tells the story of Ara Malikian, a talented and versatile violinist of Lebanese and Armenian origin, who combines classical music with rock, flamenco, and various other genres. The film shows his career as well as his private life. Afterwards, the audience can enjoy a live performance.

During the ASFF, the Dutch premiere of Elisa & Marcela will take place. The film tells the true story of a Spanish lesbian couple in 1901 that seduced a priest into marrying them. Director Isabel Coixet created a special photo exhibition that you can visit from April 26th to June 13th in the public library of Amsterdam (OBA).

In the special double bill program The Passage of Time, ASFF pays tribute to Isaki Lacuesta by screening two of his films: La leyenda del tiempo (The Legend of Time) and Entre dos aguas
