WELCOME

TO THE ASFF 6TH REVIVED EDITION

We have curated a very special program adapted to the current world to enjoy Spanish Cinema and Culture with efficient health security measures.

Dear lovers of Spanish cinema, the 6th edition of the SFF will be a very special one, as the current world sets a new complete change of panorama with new rules, new necessities... and it requires an entire new adaptation. Like many other festivals across the world, we were forced to postpone the original dates of the festival in May 2020, due to the worldwide health crisis caused by coronavirus (COVID-19).

The festival cannot be held under the same conditions as in previous years, so we have done a huge effort to adjust it with the priority of creating a safe space and also offer a cinematographic experience that is as pleasant as possible. Come join us! Along the way you will discover a hand-picked selection of films from various genres, demonstrating the compelling variety of Spanish cinema in all its richness.

Fresh new voices like Belén Funes, Isabel Lamberti, Pilar Palomero, Leticia Dolera, Lucía Alemany, Paula Cons & Nuria Giménez will shape a program led & mainly represented by women! This 6th edition stands out for highlighting female talent and encouraging it. This program was organically made with 80% of the titles directed by women.

We are also very proud to announce a program entirely composed by almost all Dutch premieres! Most of the films that we bring are fresh titles that come straight from their presentation at the San Sebastian International Film Festival and the Malaga Spanish Film Festival 2020.

This year, our Spanish Cinema Without Fear section meets The Netherlands! Spanish & Dutch cinema join forces in this intercultural exchange. This breakthrough section meets The Netherlands with a very special showcase focused on Spanish & Dutch co-productions that have the courage to experiment with something beyond and on the periphery of the cinematographic industry. Some of the filmmakers of this section: Isabel Lamberti & Vanesa Abajo, who are based in The Netherlands, will join us at the festival to present their work and bring some extra background and insight to our screenings.

Due to COVID-19, we are not able to bring any international guests to The Netherlands this year, but they will be attending the festival virtually! Stay tuned! Our social media channels will reveal chats with acclaimed directors, actors & actresses from the different films in our program.

Also, for this special edition we have curated a fresh new section of works made during confinement in Spain, LOCKDOWN TALENT, a very emotional showcase of short films, with the aim of getting the bigger picture of a time when everything seemed uncertain.

The Spanish Film Festival is coming to Rotterdam again for this 2020 edition! Like previous years, SFF will take place in LantarenVenster, and this time we are introducing a new venue: Pathé Schouwburgplein. And if that was not enough, we are getting even bigger... We present a new host city: The Hague. The Hague edition will run in Pathé Buitenhof.

We are looking forward to seeing you at the festival... with the right precautions, life goes on!

Virginia Pablos — Director

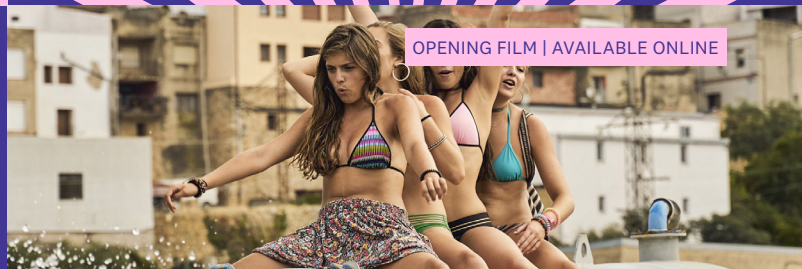

SAFETY MEASURES: To guarantee health security, the Spanish Film Festival may not be held under the same conditions as in previous years. With the priority of creating a safe space and also offer cinematographic experience that is as pleasant as possible, we adopted the following measures in accordance with the current current governmental regulations and the regulations of each cinema:

1. Daily disinfection of every venue and after every screening.
2. There will be hydro-alcoholic gel dispensers at the entrances of every venue.
3. Entry to and exit from the venues will be gradual and under the control of accommodation staff to ensure social distancing.
4. No physical Festival brochures or hand programmes will be provided to prevent circulation of the virus.
5. Information will only be available online and on the official app.
6. All the venues will have various entry and exit points in place, where necessary, to prevent crowding. Entry to and exit from the venues will be in stages.
7. Festival spectators must arrive to the venues at least 15 minutes before the screening to enable the audience's gradual admission.
8. All visitors to any of the festival's venues must keep to a social distance of at least 1,5 metres between one another.
9. It is recommended for all visitors to wear a mask in closed and crowded places.
10. We recommend bringing festival tickets downloaded in your mobile phone to avoid as far as possible any contact with paper. Please check with the corresponding cinema for the ticketing rules.
11. If you think you have symptoms of COVID-19 infection or you have been in contact with someone diagnosed with the virus, stay at home. You'll have the opportunity to enjoy some of the films at home in our Online edition running from 11 to 17 November!

INTEMPERIE OUT IN THE OPEN

Set in the southern Spanish badlands, this brilliant adaptation from the novel by Jesús Carrasco unpacks the surrogate father-son relationship between a runaway and a shepherd. Western, thriller, road movie... the film is raw and rough and represents a flight to faith in the human condition.

A boy escaped from home, listening, crouched in the depths of his hiding place, the cries of the men who seek him. When the game passes, what remains before him is an infinite and arid plain that he must cross if he wants to get away definitively from what has made him flee. His steps will intersect with those of a pastor and, from that moment, nothing will be the same for either of them.

Special event: The screening will be introduced by an online presentation with director Benito Zambrano.

THE DEATH OF ANTONIO SÁNCHEZ LOMAS LA MUERTE DE ANTONIO SÁNCHEZ LOMAS

In the southern Spanish village of Frigiliana, time has not healed the wounds from the Franco era. Even now the murder of a villager in 1952 divides the community.

A horrific event during the Franco era in a southern Spanish village remains a taboo subject that no one talks about. Beneath the apparent village harmony, there is an undercurrent of lethargic pain, personal drama, betrayal and hidden political conflicts. These all stem from the cruelties carried out by Franco's Guardia Civil.

Filmmakers Ramón and Salvador Gieling confront the inhabitants with these hidden secrets. Only the ones who confront the bloody past can live in peace with the future.

LA ISLA DE LAS MENTIRAS THE ISLAND OF LIES

In 1921, the steamboat Santa Isabel was carrying 260 Spanish emigrants to America, when it sank just off the island of Salvora in Galicia, Spain. Only three women from the island came to help and managed to rescue 50 of the passengers.

While the women are lauded as heroines, the suspicion that the accident was provoked starts to spread like wildfire. The main instigator of the rumor is an Argentinean journalist, who arrives on the island to cover the story.

There are many unanswered questions and as the truth slowly begins to filter out, the heroines will start to lose their innocence and traditional life on the island will be changed forever.

MY MEXICAN BRETZEL

Intimate diary of a woman from a well-to-do background illustrated through the homespun films of her husband, a wealthy industrialist, between the '40s and '60s of last century. The film is also a classic melodrama in the style of Douglas Sirk or Todd Haynes, with highly sensitive emotions. A lightening tour of the old Europe. A romantic fantasy.

The film opens with black-and-white clips of pilots during World War II in Switzerland, subtitled with excerpts from – so we are told – the diary of Vivian Barrett. She talks about herself and her husband Léon, who partly lost his hearing in an accident with his plane and could no longer fly. The couple's glamorous life then unfolds in diary excerpts and footage shot by Léon, about whom we also learn that he developed a successful anti-depressant, and had an obsession with many different forms of transportation.

LA VIDA ES SUEÑO LIFE IS DREAM

In a surreal narration full of marvellous images, Vanesa dissects the dream of her parents who fled the deep poverty of Spain for the Netherlands.

In the end of the 1960s, Vanesa's parents fled the Franco-regime's deep poverty to pursue their dream in the Netherlands. Working their blue-collar jobs for hours and hours, for over 45 years, their purpose was to return to Spain wealthy and comfortable. There, in a house full of Dutch porcelain and shiny gold, they can now finally rest. Vanesa was raised and resides in the Netherlands, but still feels trapped in their expectant illusion, even with the distance between them. Torn between two homes, she starts to re-examine her past. What kind of life did they truly live? And did she have the freedom to make her own life decisions?

Enjoy the hugely successful, worldwide smash hit TV Series on the big screen!

María, Cris and Esther are three very different women beyond 30 who think they are now pretty much the adult person they'll remain for the rest of their lives. They couldn't be more wrong: María was just signing the contract to buy the home for the rest of her life. But the guy she was going to spend that rest of her life and have kids with realizes just then that María was never, ever, going to surprise him again, especially not sexually.

What to do? Well, in María's case, you go to your lesbian-artist sister Esther for consolation who has her very own type of "crisis medication". Which can be quite hilarious, when you arrive high as a kite at a little girl's birthday party who happens to be the daughter of your best friend Cris, living her own little, big lie with her hubby Pablo.

So when María finds herself getting laid in the kids' bouncy castle with the gentle but simple-minded janitor, and getting pregnant from him, she finally starts letting go and going with the flow!
